SANGSTERS'
SILK AND ALPACA UMBRELLAS,
ON FOX'S PARAGON FRAMES.

THE acknowledged benefit to health, in addition to the personal comfort derived from the use of the UMBRELLA, as a protection from the injurious effects of the Sun, as well as the Rain, is rapidly increasing the demand for them in all quarters of the Globe.

The invention of "Fox's Paragon Frames," by lessening the weight nearly one-half, without impairing the strength, has effected a great improvement; whilst the application of ALPACA (patented by W. and J. SANGSTER in 1848) enables the Manufacturer to produce an article nearly equal to Silk, at less than half the price.

W. and J. S. continue to repair gratis (if necessary) the frames of any Paragon Umbrella purchased at either of their Establishments, viz.:—

140, REGENT STREET, 10, ROYAL EXCHANGE,
94, FLEET STREET, 75, CHEAPSIDE.

Shipping Orders executed with Dispatch, and on the Lowest Terms, at their Wholesale Warehouse, 75, Cheapside. [53

Marine and General Travellers'
INSURANCE SOCIETY.

MARINERS and PASSENGERS to any part of the World insured against DEATH from ALL CAUSES or from ACCIDENT ONLY.

PASSENGERS' BAGGAGE, MARINERS' NAUTICAL INSTRUMENTS and EFFECTS, insured by the YEAR or VOYAGE.

A List of CLAIMS PAID, continued from 1854, with Nature of ACCIDENTS, will shortly be issued to the Public.

Prospectuses, Proposal Forms, and all information to be had on application, personally or by letter, to the Chief Offices, or any of the Established Agencies throughout the World.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.

GOUT and RHEUMATISM.—These most painful disorders are equally prevalent in town and country, and are sure to be found as often in the patrician's palace as the pauper's cot. It is commonly supposed that gout and rheumatism are different diseases; but in fact they are identical—not distinct diseases, but different forms of the same disease, though it is true that some extreme cases may seem to disprove this assertion. The cause and the seat of both is depraved blood, and he who would successfully contend with either must point his remedies to this vital fluid. Holloway's admirable Ointment affords immediate local relief, and his wonderful Pills, directly acting on the blood, eradicate all disease. [26

"THE SANS-PLI SHIRT

IS a Garment made entirely without gathers. These auxiliaries to the Shirt have hitherto been considered indispensable, but, like everything else, where the ingenious mind is directed to getting rid of complication, simplicity is proved to be the attribute of perfection; and in the case of this Registered Shirt the rule was never more distinctly manifested. It may confidently be eulogised for its nicety of fit, and great ease and comfort."—Morning Herald.

32, Lombard Street, London, E.C.
December 1, 1858.

The Proprietors of the A B C Railway Guide feel called upon to make some remarks upon a Circular issued by Messrs. Kelly & Co. In this Circular it is stated, in announcing a New Railway Guide, that "the principle of the work will be the same as the A B C Railway Guide, hitherto published by them; but the forthcoming work will contain such additions and improvements as their experience in the compilation of the former work has suggested."

The A B C Railway Guide was first published in London in October, 1853, on the plan of two other publications previously published at Leeds and Birmingham by the same Author. On its appearance, the Press throughout England, and some of the Foreign Newspapers, eulogised the A B C in terms which had perhaps never been applied to a work of this nature. The great popularity and acknowledged value of the publication induced Messrs. Kelly & Co., in December, 1854, to pay a minimum rental of Three Hundred and Sixty Guineas per annum for the privilege of publishing it for four years. Their lease expired this month, and they have instantly issued the Circular from which the above is an extract, for the purpose of obtaining advertisements for a publication on the principle of the A B C Guide—a principle which they have been acknowledging for the last four years to be the copyright of the Proprietors of the A B C, and for the right of using which they have been paying Thirty Guineas per month. With regard to "their experience in the compilation," Messrs. KELLY & Co. had nothing whatever to do with the compilation of the A B C; they were not even known to the compiler until twelve months after the first publication of the A B C.

Legal notice has been given to Messrs. KELLY & Co. of the intentions of the Proprietors of the A B C RAILWAY GUIDE to protect their copyright from any infringement upon it.

In conclusion, the Proprietors feel the greatest confidence in leaving their case in the hands of the many friends who have been in the habit of advertising in their work, feeling sure that the Advertisers' own interest and sense of what is just will alike lead them to give their support to the A B C, rather than to any surreptitious imitation of it.

P.S. Since legal notice has been given to Messrs. KELLY & Co. of the intentions of the Proprietors of the A B C GUIDE to protect their copyright against any infringement of it, Messrs. KELLY & Co. have written to express their willingness to withdraw the Hand-Bill issued by them, and to say that they will not publish anything infringing on the copyright of the A B C.

SANGSTERS'
SILK AND ALPACA UMBRELLAS,
ON FOX'S PARAGON FRAMES.

THE acknowledged benefit to health, in addition to the personal comfort derived from the use of the UMBRELLA, as a protection from the injurious effects of the Sun, as well as the Rain, is rapidly increasing the demand for them in all quarters of the Globe.

The invention of "Fox's Paragon Frames," by lessening the weight nearly one-half, without impairing the strength, has effected a great improvement; whilst the application of ALPACA (patented by W. and J. SANGSTER in 1848) enables the Manufacturer to produce an article nearly equal to Silk, at less than half the price.

W. and J. S. continue to repair gratis (if necessary) the frames of any Paragon Umbrella purchased at either of their Establishments, viz.:—

140, REGENT STREET, 10, ROYAL EXCHANGE,
94, FLEET STREET, 75, CHEAPSIDE.

Shipping Orders executed with Dispatch, and on the Lowest Terms, at their Wholesale Warehouse, 75, Cheapside. [33

PASSENGERS' BAGGAGE, MARINERS' NAUTICAL INSTRUMENTS and EFFECTS, insured by the YEAR or VOYAGE.

A List of CLAIMS PAID, continued from 1854, with Nature of ACCIDENTS, will shortly be issued to the Public.

Messrs. GABRIEL'S Improvements are truly important, and will well repay a visit to their Establishments; we have seen Testimonials of the highest order relative thereto."—Sunday Times, September 6th, 1857

Messrs. GABRIEL are the Patentees and Sole Proprietors of their PATENT WHITE ENAMEL, which effectually restores Front Teeth. Avoid imitations, which are injurious.

GABRIEL'S GUTTA PERCHA ENAMEL, 1*s.* 6*d.* per Box, is the best stopping extant (directions enclosed for personal application). It arrests Toothache, and renders the decayed member sound and useful for Mastication. Obtainable through any Chemist in the United Kingdom, or direct, 20 Stamps.

The Treatise "Gabriel on the Loss and Restoration of the Teeth," gratis, or Stamped Envelope. [57

FRAMPTON'S PILL OF HEALTH. Price 1s. 1½d. and 2s. 9d. per box. This excellent Family Pill is a medicine of long-tried efficacy for purifying the blood, and correcting all Disorders of the Stomach and Bowels. Two or three doses will convince the afflicted of its salutary effects. The stomach will speedily regain its strength; a healthy action of the liver, bowels, and kidneys will rapidly take place; and renewed health will be the quick result of taking this medicine, according to the directions accompanying each box. PERSONS OF A FULL HABIT, who are subject to headache, giddiness, drowsiness, and singing in the ears, arising from too great a flow of blood to the head, should never be without them, as many dangerous symptoms will be entirely carried off by their timely use. For FEMALES these Pills are truly excellent, removing all obstructions, the distressing headache so very prevalent at the sex, depression of spirits, dulness of sight, nervous affections, blotches, pimples, and sallowness of the skin, and give a healthy juvenile bloom to the complexion. These Pills unite the recommendation of a mild operation with the most successful effect; and for elderly people, or where an occasional aperient is required, nothing can be better adapted. In consequence of the great and increasing demand, the Proprietor has obtained permission from Her Majesty's Commissioners to have the name and address of impressed upon the Government Stamp, affixed to each box.—Sold by all vendors of medicine.

BLAIR'S GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS. Price 1s. 1½d. and 2s. 9d. per box.

This preparation is one of the benefits which the science of modern chemistry has conferred upon mankind, for during the last twenty years of the present century to speak of a cure for the Gout was considered a romance; but now the efficacy and safety of this medicine is so fully demonstrated by unsolicited testimonials from persons in every rank of life, public opinion proclaims this as one of the most important discoveries of the present age.

These Pills require no restraint of diet or confinement during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Medicine Vendors. See the name of "THOMAS PROUT, 229, Strand, London," on the Government Stamp.

OLD DR. JACOB TOWNSEND'S AMERICAN SARSAPARILLA.

No sooner is "Insensible Perspiration" checked than a host of evils begin to manifest themselves, and Tightness is often felt in the chest, Wheezing, Difficulty of Breathing, Cold Feet, Heaviness in the Head, Swelling of the Joints, Cold Chills and Hot Flushes—producing a sad variety of Cutaneous or Skin Diseases—Loss of Appetite, Dullness of Hearing, Ague in the Face or Bowels, Pains in the Back or Sides, Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, or other symptoms come rushing on to torment the sensitive frame. The surest and shortest method to remove all these ills is to restore what has been arrested, viz., the "Insensible Perspiration," by having recourse to

OLD DR. JACOB TOWNSEND'S SARSAPARILLA,

Which is the most invigorating purifier of the blood ever discovered.

OLD DR. JACOB TOWNSEND'S SARSAPARILLA PILLS.

These Pills, composed entirely of American, vegetable products, exert a most salutary influence over the system, and are instrumental in removing many obstinate and long-standing complaints. Their truly wonderful efficacy is proved by the daily-increasing demand for them. Mildly aperient, cleansing the blood, promoting appetite, restoring vigour to the system, free from anything of injurious tendency, and greatly enhancing the pleasures of life.

OLD DR. JACOB TOWNSEND'S ALL-HEALING OINTMENT.

Is unlike any other in its action or its effects—cleansing first, then healing. No wound, eruption of the skin, or scrofulous development, but yields to it when properly applied. It is the most useful universal domestic remedy for Burns, Scalds, &c., ever discovered. No family should be without it. Emigrants especially should take a supply. Extended particulars of these extraordinary American medicines may be procured of all Agents in London and the country.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

ON THE FIRST APPEARANCE OF

THE A B C RAILWAY GUIDE IN 1853.

"L'Ecriture dit quelque part: Celui qui veut être A B C sera L E V; et l'Ecriture a raison, et les rationels auteurs de ce petit ouvrage qui présentent crânement les trois premières lettres de l'alphabet comme le titre de leur publication, ont raison; aussi ont-ils d'emblée atteint le but de leur apparition porté le trouble dans l'âme des Bradshaws, de ces horribles guides qui ne sont pas à toucher tant ils sont sales, et qui sont d'ailleurs tellement stupides qu'il est impossible au voyageur d'y trouver le renseignement qu'il cherche. Avec l'A B C c'est chose toute différente, un voyageur y trouverait son chemin. Il est impossible, selon nous, d'être plus clairement intelligible que ne l'est l'A B C. Il se peut que Bradshaw continue à être le plus vendu, la routine est une si belle chose! mais encore un peu de temps et l'A B C sera le vade mecum de tout homme soucieux à la recherche de ce qui, dans Bradshaw, est réellement l'inconnu, à la recherche d'une station quelconque..... de chemin de fer. Nous recommandons l'A B C de l'A B C, urbi et orbi; il n'y a que E B T qui puisse se refuser A O T pour la bourse un sixpence, à l'effet d'H T l'A B C; pour notre part, nous ne doutons pas que Bradshaw lui-même, avant [illegible] ne soit forcé de partager notre I D, [illegible], se trouvant D K V, il ne soupire après G V Q; à quoi nous ajouterons la formule de vœu antique: puisqu'il est [illegible] du nombre des vivants.....que la terre lui soit légère!"—Petites Affiches de Londres.

"The A B C, or Alphabetical Railway Guide shows, as it is said, at a glance how and when you can go from London to the different stations in Great Britain, and what it costs together with the fares, distances, duration, &c. We have carefully looked through this new railway time-table. The plan is admirable. The information is given to a person precisely as he wants it, and much useful information is given which cannot be found elsewhere. We have often been puzzled to find by ordinary time-table-books the information we want. The new book before us is as clear and simple as can be. If we want to go from London to any place in the country, we have only to turn to the name of that town, which, under an alphabetical arrangement, is readily found, and there we are plainly told the station in London from which we have to start, the times of all the trains leaving, when they arrive, and when they return; the fares; the population, &c."—Herapath's Journal.

"In the Guide before us the different railway stations are arranged in alphabetical order, on the plan of a dictionary; consequently the reference is actually 'as easy as A B C.' This railway directory is really a splendid hit, and must now supersede all in use. Its extreme facility for reference, accuracy, and trifling cost (6d.), will ensure for this Guide an immense circulation. It is to be published monthly."—The Lancet.

"The most formidable rival to 'Bradshaw' that we have yet seen. 'Bradshaw' gives the time-table of each Company in a tabular form: his 'Guide' is, in fact, a collection of the various companies' time-tables. The 'A B C Guide' throws these tables into Gazetteer form, which, of course, greatly simplifies the process of ascertaining the line, cost, and time of transit to or from the metropolis."—Christian Times.

"A very useful publication for those who are puzzled by the complicated time-tables of official lists. Every place to and from which a London train starts appears alphabetically, with the times of departure and arrival, the fare, and some statistics."—Spectator.

"A Railway Bradshaw is a sixpenny puzzle to which the enigma of the Sphinx was a fool, and the most perfect Chinese collection of balls within balls mere child's play. No one doubts that every train that goes to every station in England is duly registered in the portly 'Bradshaw' of the present day, and some few persons have, by dint of practice, succeeded in mastering so much of the mass of knowledge between its covers as bears on the fifty or sixty miles of railway over which their pleasure or their business compels them to travel. Very different, however, is the case of the stranger who desires to find his way to some bye station, of whose whereabouts he is not certain, and with respect to whose direction he is as ignorant as a child—whether Euston Square or King's-Cross will be his starting post. Even if he succeed in detecting his wished-for terminus among the numerous stations of some gigantic line, the long list of trains stopping here, there, and everywhere, before and behind his pet place, so puzzles him, that his researches after the one slow train that happens to drop him at his destination, remind him painfully of the old proverb of 'seeking for a needle in a bundle of hay.' We are surprised that such an enigma has been allowed to go on so long without its Œdipus. Like every other grievance, we presume its growth has been almost imperceptible, and that the poor suffering public, which accepted with content the few leaves that once recorded the arrivals and departures of some dozen leading railways, submitted to its gradual growth to its present size, without a thought that by that very growth it made itself practically less useful and daily more unintelligible. We welcome, therefore, under our present infliction, the railway Œdipus in the shape of the A B C, or Alphabetical Railway Guide, whose title-page very truly says that 'it shows at a glance how and when you can go from London to the different stations in Great Britain and return, with the fares, distances, and population.' Let us open the little paper book and see how these promises are borne out. We fix on a place we never heard of, and whose whereabouts, we will warrant, is a puzzle to most of our readers. The place is Churwell. Suppose we want to visit a friend at Churwell, if, indeed, any one lives there, we turn to our alphabetical list and there we find it written, 'Churwell (near Leeds), from Euston-square, viâ Stockport, 221¾ miles, population 1,103;' and then immediately follows a short double column, showing us how we may start from Euston-square by four trains per diem, and leave the terra incognita by a similar number, with the hours of departure and the hours of arrival. With such a Guide, Punch's 'Unprotected Female' could hardly fail of finding her way about England, and the most foreign of foreigners, if he can but decipher English, will never fall into the error of the good lady celebrated by Tom Hood, who travelled backwards and forwards on the line from Brussels to Mechlin by diligently changing back to her old train, until the reappearance of Mechlin's Towers for the sixth time forced on her the all too true impression that her journey had been like the panther's walk in his den—there and back again."

"The A B C, or ALPHABETICAL RAILWAY GUIDE.—Under this title we have a convenient pocket volume before us, which is certainly a most material improvement upon the various compilations published under the name of 'Railway Time Tables,' or as they are more frequently, but apocryphally, designated 'Railway Guides.' These, from the intricate manner in which they are compiled, compel the perplexed traveller to search through the tables of two or three companies, before he can obtain the information he requires. In the present work, however, the stations are arranged in alphabetical order, and the reader is enabled at one glance to ascertain by what station he is to leave London, what number of miles he has to travel, at what period he will arrive at his destination, that is, supposing no accident befals him, and what is the fare he has to pay, even to the remotest town or village in Great Britain, where the iron road is carried. We strongly recommend this railway manual, as supplying the multitudinous defects in those already in circulation."—Nottinghamshire Guardian.

"To the traveller to and from London to any town in the United Kingdom this is the most convenient and best adapted railway reference of any of the plans published. Its arrangement is excellent because exceedingly simple, the compilers have displayed considerable ingenuity in its design, and the reader can ascertain at a glance where the train starts from by which he wishes to go, and the exact time of its departure and arrival, together with the fare and the population of the place."—Wolverhampton Herald.

"This is the most intelligible railway guide book which we have seen. One can at once find the particular railway and the facts which he wishes, and the information is generally correct."—Glasgow Examiner.

"This publication shows, as it says, 'at a glance, how and when you can go from London to the different stations in Great Britain and return; together with the fares, distances, population, &c.' We regard its appearance as most opportune, for it is so clear and simple that there is no exaggeration in the publishers' stylingit as easy as A B C. Incomprehensibility has hitherto been the chief characteristic of Railway Guide-books—but by the admirable plan here adopted, if the traveller does but know the name of the place to which he wishes to go, under its initial letter he will find in A B C whence, and at what time and fare, trains start thither, without the slightest difficulty. The extreme facility of this guide for reference, and its trifling cost, ought to ensure for it a very extensive circulation."—Plymouth Times.

"The number of this Guide before us is for November. It is a vast improvement on Bradshaw, and will save many a wry face which has been made when exploring the labyrinthine intricacies of its predecessor. At a glance the traveller with the A B C Guide in his hand discovers how and when you can go from London to the different Stations in Great Britain and return; together with the fares, distances, population, &c."—Kelso Chronicle, Jan. 6, 1854.

"This is the second number of a useful and simple monthly guide, showing at a glance how and when you can go from London to the different stations in Great Britain and return; together with the fares, distances, population, &c. In its arrangement it is as plain as a finger-post, thus forming a striking contrast to the enigmatical Bradshaw." — Sheffield Free Press.

"The intricacy and utter unintelligibility of Bradshaw has been a source of bitter complaint ever since that collection of Sphynx-defying riddles was first published; and it really speaks little for the ingenuity of Englishmen that they should have submitted so long to the grievance without devising a remedy. Perfect redress is, however, at last afforded to all that wish to travel between London and the provinces. The bewildered cockney who may be suddenly called upon to visit some place he has never heard of before, has only to turn to the place it occupies in the alphabet, just as if he were looking out some hard word in a dictionary, and he will find a complete list of the trains to and from the object of his search, with, in most instances, a complete list of the fares."—Maidstone and Canterbury Journal.

"The Alphabetical Railway Guide purports to simplify what is often a very difficult and abstruse problem, namely, the ascertaining how and when you may go from London to any other place, near or distant, so as to render it easy as A B C—its own unintelligible title. The information is confined to London, and it will be of immense service to the metropolitans; the idea is good, and if extended it would put Bradshaw out of the field."—Newcastle Guardian.

"This is a very remarkable improvement on old Bradshaw, and will, no doubt, rapidly supersede him for all residents in the metropolis. It shows, at a glance, how and when you can go from London to the different stations in Great Britain, together with the fares, distances, population, &c., and is really as 'easy as A B C.' You have only to look for the name of any town in its alphabetical position, and you are at once able to see what stations you are to go to, what to pay, and what time you start and arrive at your destination. The Guide is beautifully got up, and will be very popular."—Plymouth Journal.

"The A B C, or Alphabetical Railway Guide for December.—We have already spoken of the merits of this work, which is published by Tweedie, of the Strand, at sixpence, and which is a great improvement on the former 'Guides.'"—Bucks Herald.

"The Alphabetical Railway Guide is a valuable acquisition to the traveller, showing at a glance how and when a person can go from London to the different stations in Great Britain, and return; together with the fares, distances, and population, &c."—Somerset County Herald.

"He who has pored and puzzled over an ordinary railway Guide, 'seeking for a needle in a bottle of hay,' will clap his hands, and raise the cry of Archimedes, when he alights upon this 'A B C.' He has but to turn to a town, as if he were consulting a gazetteer, and instantly he learns all about its railway connexion with London—at what moment he must be in waiting to catch the train for its destination, &c.,&c."—Gateshead Observer.

"This is by far the best Railway Guide, or Vade Mecum, which has yet been designed; indeed, for facility of reference and fulness of information, we do not see how it could be improved upon. The only defect we can perceive is in a portion of its title; for in the title-page it only professes to show, how and when you go from London to the stations in Great Britain and return; whereas it very clearly points out also how and when, and in what time, you can go from any one station in a given line to any other in the same line. We will, however, return to this point, when we have explained the plan of compilation adopted in the A B C Guide, very appropriately so denominated, because the child's A B C primer is not more easy to be understood. All the railway stations throughout the kingdom are arranged alphabetically, so that it might be called a 'Railway Dictionary.' The first thing shown is on what metropolitan line or lines the provincial station you wish to reach is situated, and the fares for the different classes of trains, first, second, third, or parliamentary. The next thing shown is, at what times the different trains start from the London terminus, and at what times they arrive at the station where your journey is to end; and, vice versâ, at what times you can start on your return journey from the latter station, and at what times reach the metropolitan station. The class of each train is distinctly indicated, the affix of the letter a signifying a first-class train, b a second-class, c a third-class, p a parliamentary train, m mail train, and x an express one. The population also of each town which enjoys the convenience of a railway station is also given—a matter of some importance to commercial travellers—and likewise its distance from London. An alphabet, or dictionary, is appended, showing the direct routes of the different metropolitan lines, and also of their branches, and the distance of each station from the London termini. Thus, under the head of the Great Western road, we find that it runs through Ealing, Hanwell, Southall, West Drayton and Langley, Slough, Maidenhead and Twyford to Reading, a side line running from Slough to Windsor. From Reading we also find that two subsidiary branches run, one through Mortimer to Basingstoke, and the other through Theale, Aldermaston, Wcolhampton, Thatcham, Newbury, and Kintbury to Hungerford. Having travelled with our 'Guide' over the branch lines, we are back into the main lines at Reading: that it continues through Pangbourne, Goring, and Wallingford to Didcot, whence again a branch diverges through the Abingdon Road to Oxford; and from Oxford a subsidiary line carries you from Oxford through Worcester, Kidderminster, and Dudley, and another by the Woodstock Road, Heyford, Banbury, Leamington, Warwick, and many other places to Birmingham. We are then once more brought back again into the main line at Didcot, and the same process of explanation is continued until we are stopped by the sea at Plymouth: the distance from London of every station on the main line, its branches, and subsidiary lines being, as we have said, given throughout.

"To find at what times of the day, and in what space of time you can travel from one intermediate station to another on the same line, all you have to do is to consult the information under the heads of both stations. Thus, on the South Western, if you wish to travel from Farnborough to Winchester, under the head of Farnborough you will find when the down trains arrive therefrom, and under the head of Winchester also when they respectively reach there.

"We will only add that popular as 'Bradshaw's Railway Guide' has been, it is a clumsy and confused compilation compared with the 'A B C Guide.'"—London Mercantile Journal.

"We can strongly recommend this little monthly record of the railway trains, as supplying the great defect of Bradshaw's manuals, viz., the toil required in deducing the particular information from the mass of compressed time-tables. Few mathematical processes can bear any comparison with the demand of intellectual resources made by our Bradshaws; and the proprietors of this little compendium deserve great credit for having supplied us with so easy a road to a very necessary branch of knowledge."—Inquirer.

"Time-tables are becoming less enigmatical, the spirit of progress having affected them figuratively. The distinguishing difference between Bradshaw and A B C is that the one is a compilation of time-tables—easier to unravel than heretofore, but still a labyrinth to the uninitiated traveller—the other an arrangement so simplified that a glance to the initial letter of any town shows at what time, and at what cost, distant places are accessible; a parallel table gives the time of return and other information. These are palpable advantages, but in Bradshaw they are only 'seen as through a glass—dimly.'"—Derbyshire Courier.

THE DISTRICT SAVINGS BANK

(LIMITED).

First Capital £50,000, in 50,000 Shares of £1 each, with power t increase the same to One Million.

DEPOSIT, FIVE SHILLINGS PER SHARE.

CHIEF OFFICE—67, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

THE experience which has attended the operations of Savings Banks and Loan Societies is such as to make it evident that an extension of their principles upon a liberal, yet sound basis, will prove highly advantageous both to the proprietary and the public.

The business done by Savings Banks established under the authority of Government will, although they embrace permanent deposits to the aggregate amount of nearly thirty-five millions of pounds sterling be found to be, both as regards their number and the places of their establishment, comparatively of a very limited character; nor is their sphere of usefulness likely to be at all increased so long as the existing restrictions, which allow only of a maximum deposit of 30*l.* in one year, and an ultimate total deposit of 200*l.*, continue in force.

It is, then, with the view of extending the operation of these useful institutions, and affording a safe and profitable mode of investment, that this Society has been formed.

The District Savings Bank offers the following inducements to capitalists, and possesses the distinctive features enumerated:—

1. The liability is limited to the amount of each proprietor's shares, which is not so with banks of issue.
2. Five out of every six towns are without savings banks.
3. There are about forty towns, electing Members of Parliament, that are without a savi bank.
4. There are above one thousand towns hav local commercial banks, but no savings banks
5. There are fourteen counties without a sav bank.
6. Fifteen millions of people have no savi banks.
7. It will pay a less rate of interest upon m than any bank in the kingdom (except sav banks), and yet will invest on securities usu first-class banking establishments.
8. Out of all the savings banks founded, not of them has closed for want of public suppor deposits.
9. It is free from the legislative and trou some restrictions upon its investments by Gov ment, which prevent a profitable employmen the funds of savings banks, while, like ther enjoys all the advantage of paying but a very rate of interest for deposits.
10. Provision has been made in the articl association to allow interest half-yearly on paid-up capital, and a bonus thereon at th of each year. These, it is believed, will together be less than at the rate of from 10 per cent. per annum.

With such manifest benefits, with so v field for its labours, the bank promises to a one of the most lucrative, yet legitimate, ch for Investment of Capital which could be d offering a large business on a practical basi totally removed from the risks of speculatio

BUSINESS OF THE BANK.

The business embraces:—

1. The Savings Bank Department, from 1*d.* to 10*l.*, at 3½ per cent.
2. The Investment Department, from 10*l.*, at 4 per cent. and upwards.
3. The Loan Department.
4. The Emigration Agency Department.

The Directors of this Company, having a desire that the anticipated profits of this institution should be justly and equitably distributed, have resolved upon submitting to the shareholders proposition to set aside, at the end of every years, 2½ per cent. of the profits, towards th mation of a fund to be apportioned to the b of the orphans of depositors.

The accounts will be audited every six m

One of the rules of the Bank is, that Director or Officer shall, directly or indirectl concerned in a loan transaction.

Applications for Prospectuses, Agencies, and Shares to be made by letter, address the General Manager, or personally at the Chief Office, 67, FLEET STREET, London

THE STRUGGLES OF A VILLAGE LAD

OR, "THERE IS NOTHING LIKE TRYING."

"So agreeably and graphically is the upward course of this village lad described, from his first contest with learning in the dame's school (from which, par parenthese, he is expelled), through his second experience under Mr. Pepper, his solitary studies of 'Euclid' in the fields in the intervals of bird-scaring, his 'competitive examination' for a scholarship in the grammar school, to his successful university course, and final settling as rector of his native village, that we are inclined at each step to set it down as equal to truth, if not absolutely true. The homely descriptions of his early enjoyments and sorrows in his cottage home, under wise and tender parents, and among his little brothers and sisters, are told with a charming fidelity, as are his boyish experiences at school and in his rustic employments. . . . This tasteful little volume, with its charming landscape frontispiece, may prove a useful stimulus to some more fortunately placed than the 'Village Lad,' Frank West."—Globe.

"'The Struggles of a Village Lad' is one of a class of narratives which will always, old fashioned as they are, have a charm for the young. The Village Lad is born 'in a beautiful little cottage in one of the pleasantest villages in England;' on his young shoulders he has an old head; he learns all his lessons, he minds the sage instructions of his parents, he initiates moral reforms. The crisis of his fate is a competitive examination for election into the grammar school. He succeeds. Thenceforward his success is certain. He goes to college, becomes a clergyman, and we leave him the rector of his native village, married to his childish playmate. The author does himself injustice, as he adds a chapter containing the moral at the end, which possibly his young readers will skip. It will not much matter if they do, as the tone of the book is healthy, and what it teaches is very clear. In these days of smartness and fine writing, it is pleasant to get hold of such a pastoral as the Village Lad."—Daily News, Nov. 12th, 1858.

"'The Struggles of a Village Lad' is a book that cannot fail to instruct and amuse all who read it. It is full of instruction, advice, and amusement, and deserves a world-wide circulation."—Nottingham Review.

"It is a beautiful story, written in a clear simple style. . . . The author has shown a p of no ordinary magnitude in dissecting the lings and thoughts of boyhood, and a most resting method of blending in the story instruc advice, amusement, and encouragement to y This book should be in the hands of every person who can read, and many who are vanced in life would find benefit by a ca perusal. We wish it all the success it deser —Lincolnshire Guardian.

"It is precisely the book a judicious pa would be glad to place in the hands of an in gent child."—Weekly Record.

"The Village Lad, who has here favour with his autobiography, began life as a herd His parents being unable to afford the l education he ardently desired, the youth menced and perseveringly prosecuted a cour self-instruction, which enabled him to com successfully for a scholarship in the v grammar school, and he reached one sta progress after another, until he ultimately came rector of his native parish. The narr is written in a simple and unaffected Young people will find in it many lessons of practical value."—Glasgow Commonwealth.

"'The Struggles of a Village Lad,' who becomes the pastor of a congregation, may devoid of attraction, containing, as it does, that may interest the young in the course narrative."—Weekly Dispatch, Oct. 17, 185

"A little book which city lads may rea digest with exceeding profit. The writer pr to recount his career as a labouring man's and the whole style of narrative has a sparkle about it, which an intelligent boy would take a delight in. A beautiful wo scene supplies an attractive frontispiece little volume, which deserves more tha praise here awarded to it."—Alliance News.

"The struggle is of an unaided genius works his way up into scholarship, and b rector of 'our village.'"—Athenæum, Nov 1858.

"We have been so puzzled this autumn with the complicated maturity of Bradshaw that we welcome with interest this new and admirable plan of showing at a glance the hours of departure and arrival of all the trains between London and other stations in Great Britain in alphabetical order. It will prove a most useful pocket companion to the traveller to and from London."—Literary Gazette, October 8, 1853.

"As a monthly Guide, this new 'A B C' one certainly is the easiest, and really most convenient in all respects, that has been offered to the public. For ladies particularly, Mr. Tweedie's little book will be found most acceptable. There is no fear of being half-an hour plodding over the down trains instead of the up. One has but to look for the town we desire to travel to, and it is found in a moment. We wish the 'A B C' every success. It is cheap and very neatly got up, and a sixpennyworth nobody should be without."—Civil Service Gazette, 1853.

"The unintelligibility of 'Railway Guides,' and 'Railway Time Tables,' almost as difficult to understand as a problem in Euclid is to solve, has long been the complaint of travellers; and here we have the first attempt of which we are aware to give persons wanting to make excursions for business or pleasure the means of ascertaining, almost at a glance, the station from which, and the times when, the trains start for any given locality from London; and from that locality to the metropolis. The fares, and the distance of the various cities and towns from the stations are also given, with their population—a piece of information useful to some travellers on commercial speculations, in whose case it would not 'pay' to go to towns with an insignificant number of inhabitants. The towns to which passengers are conveyed from the different termini in London are arranged in alphabetical order, and the particulars we have named inserted after each. The routes of the different companies from the metropolis are given at the end of the Alphabetical Guide, of which every railway traveller should possess himself.—The labour of arranging and compiling this 'Guide' must have been immense; and only an enormous sale, at the low price fixed, can pay the publisher."—Naval and Military Gazette.

"INCOMPREHENSIBILITY has hitherto been the principle characteristic of railway guide-books, until to be as incomprehensible as one of these Pythian volumes has become a received interpretation of all that can be imagined of bewildermen perplexity, and doubt. The compilers the 'A B C Guide' have come forward the assistance of the travelling publi with a guide, showing at a glance h and when to go from London to the di ferent stations in Great Britain and retur This is precisely the sort of informati which the public require, and the co pilers have done good service in supply it. The old system of guide-books is fective in this respect—that, instead making the point of destination the fi thing to be found, it left the ignorant a perplexed traveller to search the tables two or three companies before he co obtain the information he required, index only giving him a clue to the pr cipal towns along the line. In the 'A Guide,' the stations, and consequently towns, can be found in alphabetical or The reader can thus ascertain by w station he is to leave town, what num of miles he has to travel, at what per he will arrive at his destination (accide excepted), and what is the fare he ha pay. Upon these points the anxiety the reader is at once set at rest. He go on his way rejoicing, assured that course is as plain as A B C, and that has nothing further to annoy him on score. The routes of the different c panies are given at the end of the b and the traveller is supplied with quisite information in the smallest sible space. The book is compiled considerable ingenuity, and the desig excellent."—Morning Post.

"Bradshaw meets a serious rival in A B C, or Alphabetical Railway G showing at a glance how and when can go from London to the different tions in Great Britain and return; toge with the fares, distances, population The towns are arranged alphabetic and divided from each other with distinctness, that the traveller lights the one he requires almost instantaneo Underneath it he finds the times at w the trains leave London and arrive a town, and the times at which they the town and arrive in London. beautifully simple contrivance, he at the same moment the fares of class to the place treated of, the nu of miles from London, and the popul At the end of the Guide, the routes different companies are given. 'Guide' is to be published monthly will, no doubt, be still further imp before another issue. It promises t come a real blessing for railway t lers."—Weekly News and Chronicle.

THE A B C RAILWAY GUIDE

Is, as its name implies, a Complete and Intelligible Guide to Railway Travellers. It has, indeed, become indispensable to all who are in the habit of using any of the several lines that diverge from the Metropolis.

It is the original and the only genuine Work of the kind. It is found in all the Government Offices, in the Clubs, Hotels, Public Libraries, and Reading-rooms, and is fully recognised as an invaluable medium for Advertisements.

To its characteristic advantages is now added a Guide to Strangers in London, including all the principal places of public interest and of public amusement: also a list of London Hotels. Arrangements are in progress for a similar list of Provincial Hotels. The Traveller will thus be furnished at a single glance, both with a Railway and an Hotel Guide, the advantage of which must be obvious to all.

The plan of the Guide is as simple as A B C; the Stations are arranged in alphabetical order, and immediately beneath each are full particulars of all Arrivals and Departures to and from the Metropolis. For explanation of the characters a b c, &c., see page 25.

Published Monthly, price 6d.

HINTS TO RAILWAY TRAVELLERS.

Before proceeding on your journey, buy a copy of the A B C Railway Guide. There you will find that the Editor has already solved for you the mysteries of Railway complications, and has presented the information you require in a clear and concise form.

Your Luggage should be securely packed in a strong box, or solid portmanteau, and it is important that your name and address should appear in full on every article.

As almost every person is now an occasional traveller, it would be well for each to provide himself with a proper Travelling Equipage, with his name and address engraved on a plate permanently affixed thereto. These will be supplied at a small cost by Mr. ALLEN, 22, Strand, Manufacturer, or by any other respectable Railway outfitter.

On Continental Railways the Passenger's Fare does not include the carriage of luggage, but a separate and additional charge is made for it. This custom has never prevailed in this country, but it has been the practice to calculate each fare so as to embrace an average quantity of luggage. The rule varies on different lines, but generally first-class passengers are allowed free 112 lbs. weight; second-class, 100 lbs.; and third-class, 56 lbs. All excess is liable to a heavy charge. If there be any reason to suspect that the weight of your luggage will exceed this scale, it would be best to forward the whole by Goods Train a day or two before the contemplated journey. An exception to this rule is sometimes made in favour of the samples of commercial gentlemen, but this exception is not uniformly admitted.

Avoid packing in Small Parcels, for they will prove a fruitful source of anxiety and trouble during the journey: have, indeed, as few packages as possible; and, after having seen that they are properly addressed, leave them in the charge of the Guard, who will deliver them to you at the termination of your journey. By no means thrust Silly Packages under the seat of the carriage. Your property will not be any safer in your own custody than in that of the Guard, and, besides, in getting it in and out of the carriage, it will probably prove an inconvenience to your fellow-passengers. In the multiplicity of Railway duties it may sometimes happen that, after all your precaution, your Luggage may be mis-sent. If this accident should occur, give notice of it immediately, and, for further advice, write on the first opportunity to

L. MORRISON, Esq.,
Railway Clearing-house, Euston Square, London.

This gentleman receives daily, from every first-class station in the kingdom, information of all missing luggage, and an application to him will generally afford a clue to the missing articles, whether they have been positively stolen.

Railway Companies do not hold themselves responsible for Luggage unless it be Booked; and Parcels of great value must be declared as such, and Insured, according to each Company's regulated charges. Neither are the Companies accountable for articles left in the carriages or "waiting-rooms," but such things are deposited in a room, and properly labelled, with the date, train, &c., upon which they are found. They are kept for a period of twelve months, when, if no claimant appears, they are advertised, and sold by auction, the proceeds going to the Company's general revenue.

For the better security of the property of passengers a "Cloak-room" is provided at the principal stations. Here articles may be left in charge of the Company's servant for a charge of 1*d.* or 2*d.* each; it is, therefore, wiser for passengers to avail themselves of this provision than to leave their property unprotected, and run the risk of its entire loss.

Be sure to be at the Station several minutes before the time for the departure of the train by which you propose to travel. Hurried excitement and bustle will throw you into a perspiration, which will be fatal to all comfort during your ride, and will expose you to the danger of catching cold.

Many travellers boast of their dexterity in catching the train at the last moment, but this habit displays a foolish vanity, and is attended with many risks. Be careful that the booking-clerk gives correct change and a proper ticket, as mistakes cannot be easily rectified after you have left the counter. Your ticket should afterwards be carefully preserved, for if it be lost you will be required to repay your entire fare. Should the ticket be afterwards found, or should other evidence satisfy the managers that you really did pay your fare at the proper time, the second fare will be returned, but this process of proof will subject you to much inconvenience and delay. To obviate this danger Mr. PORTHOUSE, 10, Northampton square, has invented a Ticket-holder, which may be hung round the neck by a small ribbon, or may be attached to the button of the coat by an elastic cord. They may be had at the stall of every station for a few pence. Besides securing the ticket from danger, they are always within reach when passengers are summoned to answer to the peremptory call, "Tickets ready."

If you have the opportunity select a seat with the back to the motion: thus you will avoid an annoying and dangerous draught which always blows on the opposite side. But should these favourite seats be already occupied, do not persist in having all the windows closed. It will generally be enough to close that one on the side from which the wind blows. Fresh air is of greater importance even than the avoidance of draughts, and, indeed, a Railway-carriage full of passengers, and with all the windows closed, will soon be filled with vitiated air that is insufferable, and suggestive only of the Black Hole of Calcutta. An improvement in the construction of Railway-carriages, which would secure ample ventilation irrespective of the windows, has long been demanded, but has not yet been attained. It is true that in some modern carriages small ventilators have been introduced above the windows, but these are very imperfect, and beside, in unpardonable ignorance, they are often closed by a class of travellers who have an invincible repugnance to fresh air.

Digitized by Google

To fortify yourself against cold and draughts a little attention to simple preparations is all that is required. A cap for gentlemen and a hood for ladies will sufficiently protect the face and neck. A rug will also add materially to comfort. Those recently invented and registered by Messrs. NICOLL, of Regent Street, display much ingenuity, and promise altogether to supersede those in common use, which are as guiltless of special adaptation as the common horse-sheet, from the occasional and improvised use of which the Railway-rug appears to have originated.

Smoking is strictly prohibited in Railway-carriages and at all Railway Stations. This is an excellent rule, and no gentleman of good breeding and of correct taste will ever attempt to infringe it. The fumes of tobacco soon fill the limited area of a carriage, add to the impurity of the air, already vitiated, and in many instances have caused persons to be seized with violent illness.

On no account whatever should passengers attempt to enter or to quit a carriage while it is in motion. Many sad accidents have resulted from this indiscretion, and therefore, by the bye-laws of every Railway Company, it is made an offence which very properly subjects the offender to a fine of 40*s*.

For the accommodation of Invalids who require to travel in a reclining position, Bed-carriages are provided on most of the trunk lines; but, as this is a special arrangement, it is necessary to give three days' notice to the General Manager, and he will direct a proper carriage to be in attendance at any station, and for any train indicated in the instructions conveyed to him.

For the convenience of passengers residing in the country and attending London, or large Provincial towns, daily-periodical Tickets are issued to First and Second-class passengers. These Tickets are not transferable, and any attempt to transfer them will render them liable to forfeiture. They are granted for Weekly, Monthly, Quarterly, Half-yearly, and Annual periods; are not available by Special or Express trains, though this privilege is sometimes accorded. They must be produced whenever required by the Ticket Collectors, and payment must be made in advance.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

ON THE FIRST APPEARANCE OF

"L'Ecriture dit quelque part: Celui qui consent à être A B C sera L E V; et l'Ecriture a raison, et les rationels auteurs du petit ouvrage qui présentent crânement les trois premières lettres de l'alphabet comme le titre de leur publication, ont raison; aussi ont-ils d'emblée par le fait de leur apparition porté le trouble dans l'âme des Bradshaws, de ces prétendus guides qui ne sont pas à toucher du doigt tant ils sont sales, et qui sont d'ailleurs tellement stupides qu'il est impossible au voyageur d'y trouver le renseignement qu'il cherche. Avec l'A B C c'est chose toute différente, un aveugle y trouverait son chemin. Il est impossible, selon nous, d'être plus clairement intelligible que ne l'est l'A B C. Il se peut que Bradshaw continue à être le plus vendu, la routine est une si belle chose! mais encore un peu de temps et l'A B C sera le vade mecum de tout homme intelligent à la recherche de ce qui, dans Bradshaw, est réellement l'inconnu, à la recherche d'une station quelconque..... de chemin de fer. Nous recommandons l'H A de l'A B C, urbi et orbi; il n'y a qu'un E B T qui puisse se refuser A O T de sa bourse un sixpence, à l'effet d'H T l'A B C; pour notre part, nous ne doutons pas que Bradshaw lui-même, avant l'E T, ne soit forcé de partager notre I D, et que, se trouvant D K V, il ne soupire sotto voce G V Q; à quoi nous ajouterons par forme de vœu antique: puisqu'il est F A C du nombre des vivants.....que la terre lui soit légère!"—Petites Affiches de Londres.

"The A B C, or Alphabetical Railway Guide, shows, as it is said, at a glance how and when you can go from London to the different stations in Great Britain, and return; together with the fares, distances, population, &c. We have carefully looked through this new railway time-table. The plan is admirable. The information is given to a person precisely as he wants it, and much useful information is given which cannot be found elsewhere. We have often been puzzled to find by ordinary time-table-books the information we want. The new book before us is as clear and simple as can be. If we want to go from London to any place in the country, we have only to turn to the name of that town, which, under an alphabetical arrangement, is readily found, and there we are plainly told the station in London from which we have to start, the times of all the trains leaving, when they arrive, and when they return; the fares; the population, &c."—Herapath's Journal.

"In the Guide before us the different railway stations are arranged in alphabetical order, on the plan of a dictionary; consequently the reference is actually 'as easy as A B C.' This railway directory is really a splendid hit, and must now supersede all in use. Its extreme facility for reference, accuracy, and trifling cost (6*d.*), will ensure for this Guide an immense circulation. It is to be published monthly."—The Lancet.

"The most formidable rival to 'Bradshaw' that we have yet seen. 'Bradshaw' gives the time-table of each Company in a tabular form: his 'Guide' is, in fact, a collection of the various companies' time-tables. The 'A B C Guide' throws these tables into Gazetteer form, which, of course, greatly simplifies the process of ascertaining the line, cost, and time of transit to or from the metropolis."—Christian Times.

"A very useful publication for those who are puzzled by the complicated time-tables of official lists. Every place to and from which a London train starts appears alphabetically, with the times of departure and arrival, the fare, and some statistics."—Spectator.

"We have been so puzzled this autumn with the complicated maturity of Bradshaw that we welcome with interest this new and admirable plan of showing at a glance the hours of departure and arrival of all the trains between London and other stations in Great Britain in alphabetical order. It will prove a most useful pocket companion to the traveller to and from London."—Literary Gazette, October 8, 1853.

"As a monthly Guide, this new 'A B C' one certainly is the easiest, and really most convenient in all respects, that has been offered to the public. For ladies particularly, Mr. Tweedie's little book will be found most acceptable. There is no fear of being half-an-hour plodding over the down trains instead of the up. One has but to look for the town we desire to travel to, and it is found in a moment. We wish the 'A B C' every success. It is cheap and very neatly got up, and a sixpennyworth nobody should be without."—Civil Service Gazette, 1853.

"The unintelligibility of 'Railway Guides,' and 'Railway Time Tables,' almost as difficult to understand as a problem in Euclid is to solve, has long been the complaint of travellers; and here we have the first attempt of which we are aware to give persons wanting to make excursions for business or pleasure the means of ascertaining, almost at a glance, the station from which, and the times when, the trains start for any given locality from London; and from that locality to the metropolis. The fares, and the distance of the various cities and towns from the stations are also given, with their population—a piece of information useful to some travellers on commercial speculations, in whose case it would not 'pay' to go to towns with an insignificant number of inhabitants. The towns to which passengers are conveyed from the different termini in London are arranged in alphabetical order, and the particulars we have named inserted after each. The routes of the different companies from the metropolis are given at the end of the Alphabetical Guide, of which every railway traveller should possess himself.—The labour of arranging and compiling this 'Guide' must have been immense; and only an enormous sale, at the low price fixed, can pay the publisher."—Naval and Military Gazette.

"INCOMPREHENSIBILITY has hitherto been the principle characteristic of railway guide-books, until to be as incomprehensible as one of these Pythian volumes has become a received interpretation of all that can be imagined of bewilderment, perplexity, and doubt. The compilers of the 'A B C Guide' have come forward to the assistance of the travelling public with a guide, showing at a glance how and when to go from London to the different stations in Great Britain and return. This is precisely the sort of information which the public require, and the compilers have done good service in supplying it. The old system of guide-books is defective in this respect—that, instead of making the point of destination the first thing to be found, it left the ignorant and perplexed traveller to search the tables of two or three companies before he could obtain the information he required, the index only giving him a clue to the principal towns along the line. In the 'A B C Guide,' the stations, and consequently the towns, can be found in alphabetical order. The reader can thus ascertain by what station he is to leave town, what number of miles he has to travel, at what period he will arrive at his destination (accidents excepted), and what is the fare he has to pay. Upon these points the anxiety of the reader is at once set at rest. He can go on his way rejoicing, assured that his course is as plain as A B C, and that he has nothing further to annoy him on this score. The routes of the different companies are given at the end of the book, and the traveller is supplied with requisite information in the smallest possible space. The book is compiled with considerable ingenuity, and the design is excellent."—Morning Post.

"Bradshaw meets a serious rival in The A B C, or Alphabetical Railway Guide, showing at a glance how and when you can go from London to the different stations in Great Britain and return; together with the fares, distances, population, &c. The towns are arranged alphabetically, and divided from each other with such distinctness, that the traveller lights upon the one he requires almost instantaneously. Underneath it he finds the times at which the trains leave London and arrive at the town, and the times at which they leave the town and arrive in London. By a beautifully simple contrivance, he gains at the same moment the fares of each class to the place treated of, the number of miles from London, and the population. At the end of the Guide, the routes of the different companies are given. The 'Guide' is to be published monthly, and will, no doubt, be still further improved before another issue. It promises to become a real blessing for railway travellers."—Weekly News and Chronicle.

"This is by far the best Railway Guide, or Vade Mecum, which has yet been designed; indeed, for facility of reference and fulness of information, we do not see how it could be improved upon. The only defect we can perceive is in a portion of its title; for in the title-page it only professes to show, how and when you go from London to the stations in Great Britain and return; whereas it very clearly points out also how and when, and in what time, you can go from any one station in a given line to any other in the same line. We will, however, return to this point, when we have explained the plan of compilation adopted in the A B C Guide, very appropriately so denominated, because the child's A B C primer is not more easy to be understood. All the railway stations throughout the kingdom are arranged alphabetically, so that it might be called a 'Railway Dictionary.' The first thing shown is on what metropolitan line or lines the provincial station you wish to reach is situated, and the fares for the different classes of trains, first, second, third, or parliamentary. The next thing shown is, at what times the different trains start from the London terminus, and at what times they arrive at the station where your journey is to end; and, vice versâ, at what times you can start on your return journey from the latter station, and at what times reach the metropolitan station. The class of each train is distinctly indicated, the affix of the letter a signifying a first-class train, b a second-class, c a third-class, p a parliamentary train, m mail train, and x an express one. The population also of each town which enjoys the convenience of a railway station is also given—a matter of some importance to commercial travellers—and likewise its distance from London. An alphabet, or dictionary, is appended, showing the direct routes of the different metropolitan lines, and also of their branches, and the distance of each station from the London termini. Thus, under the head of the Great Western road, we find that it runs through Ealing, Hanwell, Southall, West Drayton and Langley, Slough, Maidenhead and Twyford to Reading, a side line running from Slough to Windsor. From Reading we also find that two subsidiary branches run, one through Mortimer to Basingstoke, and the other through Theale, Aldermaston, Woolhampton, Thatcham, Newbury, and Kintbury to Hungerford. Having travelled with our 'Guide' over the branch lines, we are back into the main lines at Reading: that it continues through Pangbourne, Goring, and Wallingford to Didcot, whence again a branch diverges through the Abingdon Road to Oxford; and from Oxford a subsidiary line carries you from Oxford through Worcester, Kidderminster, and Dudley, and another by the Woodstock Road, Heyford, Banbury, Leamington, Warwick, and many other places to Birmingham. We are then once more brought back again into the main line at Didcot, and the same process of explanation is continued until we are stopped by the sea at Plymouth: the distance from London of every station on the main line, its branches, and subsidiary lines being, as we have said, given throughout.

"To find at what times of the day, and in what space of time you can travel from one intermediate station to another on the same line, all you have to do is to consult the information under the heads of both stations. Thus, on the South Western, if you wish to travel from Farnborough to Winchester, under the head of Farnborough you will find when the down trains arrive therefrom, and under the head of Winchester also when they respectively reach there.

"We will only add that popular as 'Bradshaw's Railway Guide' has been, it is a clumsy and confused compilation compared with the 'A B C Guide.'"—London Mercantile Journal.

THE DISTRICT SAVINGS BANK

(LIMITED).

First Capital £50,000, in 50,000 Shares of £1 each, with power to increase the same to One Million.

DEPOSIT, FIVE SHILLINGS PER SHARE.

CHIEF OFFICE—67, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

THE experience which has attended the operations of Savings Banks and Loan Societies is such as to make it evident that an extension of their principles upon a liberal, yet sound basis, will prove highly advantageous both to the proprietary and the public.

The business done by Savings Banks established under the authority of Government will, although they embrace permanent deposits to the aggregate amount of nearly thirty-five millions of pounds sterling, be found to be, both as regards their number and the places of their establishment, comparatively of a very limited character; nor is their sphere of usefulness likely to be at all increased so long as the existing restrictions, which allow only of a maximum deposit of 30*l.* in one year, and an ultimate total deposit of 200*l.*, continue in force.

It is, then, with the view of extending the operation of these useful institutions, and affording a safe and profitable mode of investment, that this Society has been formed.

The District Savings Bank offers the following inducements to capitalists, and possesses the distinctive features enumerated:—

1. The liability is limited to the amount of each proprietor's shares, which is not so with banks of issue.
2. Five out of every six towns are without savings banks.
3. There are about forty towns, electing Members of Parliament, that are without a savings bank.
4. There are above one thousand towns having local commercial banks, but no savings banks.
5. There are fourteen counties without a savings bank.
6. Fifteen millions of people have no savings banks.
7. It will pay a less rate of interest upon money than any bank in the kingdom (except savings banks), and yet will invest on securities usual to first-class banking establishments.
8. Out of all the savings banks founded, not one of them has closed for want of public support in deposits.
9. It is free from the legislative and troublesome restrictions upon its investments by Government, which prevent a profitable employment of the funds of savings banks, while, like them, it enjoys all the advantage of paying but a very low rate of interest for deposits.
10. Provision has been made in the articles of association to allow interest half-yearly on the paid-up capital, and a bonus thereon at the end of each year. These, it is believed, will not together be less than at the rate of from 7 to 10 per cent. per annum.

With such manifest benefits, with so wide a field for its labours, the bank promises to afford one of the most lucrative, yet legitimate, chances for Investment of Capital which could be desired, offering a large business on a practical basis, and totally removed from the risks of speculation.

BUSINESS OF THE BANK.

The business embraces:—

1. The Savings Bank Department, from 1*d.* to 10*l.*, at 3½ per cent.
2. The Investment Department, from 10*l.*, at 4 per cent. and upwards.
3. The Loan Department.
4. The Emigration Agency Department.

The Directors of this Company, having a desire that the anticipated profits of this institution should be justly and equitably distributed, have resolved upon submitting to the shareholders a proposition to set aside, at the end of every three years, 2½ per cent. of the profits, towards the formation of a fund to be apportioned to the benefit of the orphans of depositors.

The accounts will be audited every six months.

One of the rules of the Bank is, that no Director or Officer shall, directly or indirectly, be concerned in a loan transaction.

Applications for Prospectuses, Agencies, and Shares to be made by letter, addressed to the General Manager, or personally at the Chief Office, 67, FLEET STREET, London.

JOHN SHERIDAN, General Manager.

The Royal Association
FOR PROMOTION OF THE FINE ARTS IN SCOTLAND.

FOUNDED IN 1838.

INCORPORATED BY ROYAL CHARTER, 1847.

COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT FOR THE YEAR 1858-59.

THE RIGHT HON. LORD KINNAIRD.
THE LORD ADVOCATE.
SIR WILLIAM GIBSON CRAIG, of Riccarton, Bart.
PROFESSOR CHRISTISON.
ANDREW COVENTRY, Esq., Advocate.
WILLIAM WILSON, Esq., of Banknock.
ROBERT HORN, Esq., Advocate.
JAMES CAMPBELL, Esq., Yr., of Tullichewan.
DR. FARQUHARSON.
JOHN MURRAY, Esq., of Murray's Hall.
DR. DOUGLAS MACLAGAN.
JAMES HORNE, Esq., C.E.
ALEX. S. LOGAN, Esq., Sheriff of Forfarshire.
ANDREW M'GEORGE, Esq., Glasgow.
JAMES GIBSON THOMSON, Esq.

J. A. BELL, Esq., Architect, Secretary and Treasurer.
D. LINDSAY and G. A. JAMIESON, Esqs., Accountants, Auditors.

THE object of this Association—the first established in the United Kingdom for similar purposes—is to advance the cause of Art in Scotland, by affording encouragement to its professors:—

I. The Association is composed of Annual Subscribers of One Guinea and upwards.

II. The Funds of the Association are appropriated to the purchase of Modern Works of Art, in Painting, Drawing, or Statuary, and to the execution or purchase of Engravings, Etchings, Bronzes, Bas-Reliefs, Models, or other productions of Art, for distribution among the Subscribers. A portion of the Funds is also devoted to the acquisition of Modern Works of Art towards the formation of a National Gallery.

III. A General Meeting of the Subscribers is annually held in July, when a Committee of Management is appointed for the ensuing year, and when the different Works purchased for the Association become, by lots publicly drawn, the property of individual Members—Subscribers being entitled to one chance for every Guinea subscribed.

IV. Each Subscriber of One Guinea is entitled to receive one plain impression of the Engraving or Engravings issued for the year of his Subscription—a Subscriber of Two Guineas, one proof impression or impressions after letters—of Five Guineas, one proof impression or impressions before letters.

PLAN FOR THE CURRENT YEAR 1859.

First.—Each Subscriber will have a chance of obtaining a Valuable Work of Art, at the Annual General Distribution in July, 1859.

Second.—Each Subscriber will receive a beautifully Illustrated Edition of the Song of

"AULD LANG SYNE,"

BY THE NATIONAL POET, ROBERT BURNS.

Embellished by Line Engravings, by LUMB STOCKS, R.A., after Original Compositions executed expressly for the Association,

BY GEORGE HARVEY, R.S.A.

Third.—Each Subscriber who, between the years 1859 and 1863 inclusive, has paid up, in one or more payments, the amount of Five Subscriptions of One Guinea each, will receive, in addition to the Engraving, Engravings, or Illustrated Works which will be annually issued as usual, an Impression of a beautiful Plate, engraved in the highest style of Line, the same size as the Picture,—

"SCENE FROM THE GENTLE SHEPHERD,"

BY SIR DAVID WILKIE, R.A.

Note.—This exquisite picture was engraved thirty years ago, but on a scale quite inadequate to do justice to its extreme beauty and delicacy of expression. It is the desire of the Committee, to which the proprietor of the Picture, JAMES T. GIBSON CRAIG, Esq., has very handsomely acceded, that this perfect work of our great National Painter be now for the first time engraved of the same size as the Painting, and in a style in every way worthy of it. As soon as the number of impressions necessary to supply the Subscribers who have complied with the above regulation has been taken from the Plate, it will be destroyed.

Intending Subscribers are requested to furnish their Names and Addresses to
